Bowen is the editor of the Yankton Press and Dakotian, and secretary of the statehood executive committee, and has gallantly led the fight of the press and people upon the governor. His confirmation was a bitter pill for Governor Ordway to swallow."

Their little son Willie went out invitations to his young friends to attend a party for his benefit, and early in the evening a large number responded to the invitations in person and were having a right merry time, when, unannounced the most of the parents of the little folks, and many others, dropped into the Woodstock home for the purpose of a little surprise party for the benefit of Willie's parents. That all were highly entertained and enjoyed the evening in the happiest manner is but the echo of all present.

—People will be surprised to learn that large quantities of corn are being shipped to this market, which are bought by farmers, who have not enough of their own raising to feed their stock on. Chas. Miller has already received and sold several car loads of shelled Kansas corn and it is estimated that from 10,000 to 15,000 bushels will be needed at this market alone to supply the demand, while all Rock county, the banner corn county of Wisconsin, will have to be brought in to keep the stock through till the next crop. In some instances the corn is brought from Chicago, but here Kansas corn is preferred. The selling price is one cent per bushel. —Beloit Free Press.

We hear no complaint concerning the scarcity of corn in this section. It is quite plenty in this market, but of poor quality, and the only trouble apprehended is in obtaining sound corn for seed. Our corn growers have had enough of Nebraska corn to satisfy them for some time.
